York Seed Fair Draws Largest Crowd Yet, Bacon Wins Praise

Newmarket — "The most successful seed fair on record," was the opinion of the executive of the York County Crop Improvement Club of the fair held at the town hall on Tuesday. Officials said that the Bacon Show was the best held in the province this year and both brought large crowds on Tuesday.

Clifford Wallwork, president of the York County Crop Improvement Club, said on Tuesday, "More seed was sold here than at any other fair and that is in large lots. Everyone here who showed seed has said it. We should have had these fairs in Newmarket long ago. There is better accommodation and better places to eat for the large crowds," said Mr. Wallwork.

W. M. Cockburn, agricultural representative and secretary of the club said yesterday that the attendance doubled the previous highest attendance at the seed fair in spite of the wet day. Exhibitors and entries also exceeded former records. There were 49 exhibitors and 111 entries on Tuesday. The 1944 fair held the previous record with 34 exhibitors and 84 entries.

The Bacon Show, first held in York County, was a new highlight of the fair. With seven townships competing, Whitcomb took first prize. Jas. Fraser, Agincourt, had the grand champion carcass and Jack Maginn, Kettleby, had the reserve champion carcass.

Mr. Cockburn said that there were several outstanding classes, one in particular being the late oats which had 20 entries, all of good quality. "The quality of the seeds all the way through was very good," said Mr. Cockburn. The Junior Farmers' judging competition had 25 contestants; the top four were Carl Boynton, Woodbridge, Harold Lapp, Markham, Ray Ingelton, Agincourt, and Lorne Tyndall, Richmond Hill. (See page 11.)

F. W. Fresant, vice-president of Toronto elevators, presented Corn Club cheques and Frank Marritt, Keswick, was presented with a gold watch for the highest yield in the corn competition last fall. He was also top in the new corn class of Dent corn, and the highly competitive late oats class.

Indicating a high quality bacon show, W. S. McMullen of the dominion livestock branch, who discussed the Whitshire sides on display and chose the grand champion carcass, said that it had the highest quality of any show he had seen this year.

Share In Court Fines
Nearly $1,800 For Newmarket

Newmarket — The share of fines derived from county court held at the town hall last year amounted towards $1,800. It was reported at council meeting on Monday night. Mayor Jos. Vale said that the presence of the court in Newmarket is an asset to the town and affords much convenience to the district instead of having it in Toronto.

Recently, the property committee has supplied new tables and chairs for the benefit of the crown attorney and counsel. The next improvement is to be a prisoners' dock. The magistrate's office is also improved. Last year there was considerable criticism of the state of the court quarters which included a letter of criticism from an eminent court witness who appeared here.

New court quarters have been suggested by those who have urged a new municipal building, but in the meantime, the property committee is endeavoring to make adequate arrangements in the present quarters.

Bert Budd, treasurer, and Mrs. D. L. Brown, secretary. Other members of the commission are Rudy Renzius, Chas. VanZant, J. L. R. Bell, Les. Boynton, Ted Gould and Mrs. V. Seldon.

Mr. Walker was elected chairman of the rink committee of Russ Broadbent, Keith Davis, Les. Boynton, John Hines, Chas. Allair, John Campbell and Geo. Haskett.

Mr. Gould, retiring chairman, ran over briefly some of the major activities of the commission during the past year which included formation of a seven-team midgeet softball league, midgeet baseball, return of lacrosse to the town as a major sport, indoor soccer league, arts, crafts and weaving. Also mentioned was the work done at the arena, organization of bantam and pee wee hockey leagues, and the recent work done by the commissioners in connection with the launching of the artificial ice campaign. Mr. Gould in closing said the commission was headed for even greater days and wished every success to the incoming officers.

Factory Workers Pledge Ice Funds

Newmarket — All evidence in the hands of the industrial committee, under the chairmanship of D. Kuhns, points to a generous response to the call for subscriptions to aid the artificial ice campaign. The committee reports pledge cards are now in the hands of all the local industries. At the Canadian Hoffman plant, almost 100 percent have signed a pledge for a weekly donation. At the Dixon Pencil Company, where Fred Dillman is in charge of the canvass, over 75 percent of the employees have expressed a willingness to make a weekly subscription. W. H. Eves and Company employees are other 100 percent subscribers.

Ted Gould, in charge of the Office Specialty, has opened the drive and to date reports collectors are meeting with success although all employees have not been contacted as yet. Davis Leather, Sangamo Electric, and Bender Casket Co. are just completing their committees and canvass will open this week. By the end of the week it is hoped figures from the various committees will be available to the ways and means committee to give them an idea as to the actual amount pledged.

Sunday afternoon, the executive of the ways and means committee completed plans for the canvass of the Main St. and businessmen of the community. Fred Thompson, chairman of the committee, will be meeting the various collection crews of St. Patrick's, St. Andrew's and St. George's ward later in the week so they will have the necessary figures and facts to present to the householders.

Meanwhile, town organizations have not been idle. The Hoffman Spitfires vs. Sutton Greenhorns hockey game netted the fund some $360, the East Side - West Side challenge game and return broomaloop game brought in a further $82. C. R. Blackstock reports the youngest members of Pickering College are holding a circus April 2 in the school gym to assist the fund.

To keep the citizens ice conscious, the Chamber of Commerce with Del. Gibney in the forefront, is hoping to erect a large thermometer on the Main St. to indicate how the drive is progressing, also mentioned were dodgers to be left at each house and a slide for the Strand Theatre to remind folks of the drive.

Horace Hixcox, manager of the Dominion Bank, as well as being secretary of the ways and means committee, also has been named treasurer of the organization. Cheques for the fund should be made to Newmarket Artificial Ice Campaign and can be left at any bank in town, and don't forget they're income tax exempt and subscribers will receive an official receipt.

New Building By-Law
To Be Prepared

Newmarket — The passage of a new building by-law was urged by Councillor Charles VanZant Monday night, and a committee of Mr. VanZant and Councillors Lorne Paynter and Tom Birrell has been set up to draw up the by-law. Mr. VanZant said that such a by-law was badly needed in town. There have been suggestions previously for such a by-law which have awaited council's action.

Warn Against False Agents
As Blind Drive Set April 22

Newmarket — Mrs. J. E. Morris, chairman of the Newmarket and district committee for the blind, announced yesterday that the annual campaign for the blind in this district will begin April 22. All workers are voluntary and the entire proceeds will be used to support the service program carried on by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

When making this announcement, Mrs. Morris explained that word had come to The Canadian National Institute for the Blind concerning the activities of agents who canvass over the telephone for the sale of goods supposedly made by the blind. These agents are in the habit of appearing on the eve of a campaign or big day for the blind. Somehow they succeed in leaving the erroneous impression that they represent the Institute for the Blind. Many citizens having heard of the drive and being approached by someone claiming to represent the blind are easily victimized.

Mrs. Morris expressed the wish that all citizens would understand that the Institute for the Blind does not canvass from door to door, or over the telephone for the sale of "Blindcraft" articles. Goods produced by blind Canadians employed by the Institute for the Blind are sold only through ordinary channels of trade, and every article carries a label bearing the trademark, "Blindcraft."

Revision Court To Resume April 5; Reserve Judgement To April 1 On Charge Assessors Neglected Job

Newmarket — The court of revision, with three new members, will meet on Tuesday, April 5, to complete the work that was not finished by the former court. The new members are Councillors Charles VanZant and Tom Birrell and Reeve Arthur D. Evans, who replace Dr. L. W. Dales, Arleigh Armstrong and A. N. Belugin, whose appointments were revoked. Mrs. Violet R. MacNaughton and H. M. Gladman are the two remaining members of the former court.

Mayor Vale told council on Monday night that it was the opinion of the town solicitor, N. L. Mathews, K.C., that only one appeal remained to be dealt with. It is the opinion of the solicitor that the appeals launched against the six industries do not hold because the former court was without power to extend the time for allowing further appeals.

It is the opinion of the solicitor that the former court was a court in fact if not in law and that the mere disqualification of three members does not question its authority, said the mayor. All but one of the appeals has been dealt with, he said. But it was without power to extend the time for further appeals which were against the six industries and therefore the new court has no power to deal with those further appeals, according to the solicitor.

Mr. Vale said that the solicitor's opinion has been confirmed by another legal expert in Toronto who is well versed in assessment law but that it is still a matter of opinion and could still be challenged in court.

A by-law to accept the assessors' resignations was shelved on Monday night. At a recent meeting the town solicitor had advised council to put aside the resignations until the new court of revision completed the work on appeals.

Council Accepts Suggested Rink Policy

Newmarket — Policy for rink administration suggested by the ways and means committee for raising funds for artificial ice was accepted by the town council on Monday night when council formally adopted a report from the committee.

The committee has had several meetings recently and out of them, has come the policy by which money will be raised for artificial ice, and the arena operated. The council has agreed to pay half of the cost up to $25,000 on the condition that such debentures be taken to a vote of the people. Highlights of the report were printed last week on page 5.

New Building By-Law To Be Prepared

Newmarket — The passage of a new building by-law was urged by Councillor Charles VanZant Monday night, and a committee of Mr. VanZant and Councillors Lorne Paynter and Tom Birrell has been set up to draw up the by-law. Mr. VanZant said that such a by-law was badly needed in town. There have been suggestions previously for such a by-law which have awaited council's action.

Use Dynamite to Break Ice Jam Near Hoffman's

Newmarket — Dynamite blasts echoed at the north end of town on Tuesday afternoon when charges were put in the ice at a railway bridge near the Hoffman Machinery Co. Ltd. The blasting, supervised by the town engineer, was done to prevent further piling up of ice in the river.

The large volume of water coming down the Holland River quickly filled up Fairley Lake in spite of the open dam gate and water is still flowing over the dam. Bogartown Creek was so swollen that water overflowed in some places. The creek had almost risen to Charlotte St., near the Strigley St. bridge, on Wednesday.

Bill Koshel One-Man Agency To Bring D.P.'s To Canada

Newmarket — The first of a group of D.P. families, arrived here on the weekend through the effort of William Koshel, Newmarket, who has worked for nearly a year to bring them from Germany. Mr. and Mrs. K. Boyko, who visited the Koshels on the weekend, have settled on the farm of Bruce Clark, Stouffville, and they are the first of 14 families who will arrive shortly to work on farms in the district around Newmarket. The immigrants were originally from Poland and the Ukraine before the war.

Bill Koshel operates a shoe repair business on the corner of Main and Timothy Sts. About a year ago he started on arrangements to bring a group of displaced families from Europe. Besides finding ways of getting them to Canada, he had to find jobs on farms for the men before they could come out.

Some of these families, said Mr. Koshel, have suffered untold hardships in Europe during the war years. One of the men who is to come to Canada shortly was in Russian territory for seven years where he was put to forced labor.

Mr. Koshel has spent much of his time and efforts and has taken on the responsibility himself for getting some of these people to this district. He has

Recommendations for a new municipal building housing the police department, fire department and county court were made at a recent meeting of the town police committee according to Councillor R. C. Morrison, chairman of the committee, at council meeting Monday night.

The committee recommended that the building be erected west of the post office on Park Ave. "An auditorium to the west of it could be built when the time comes," said Mr. Morrison. He said that plans made by the engineer provide for parking at the rear of the building.

Other councillors touched on the possibility of using the present town hall building and adding on a wing for police department, fire hall or court room with adequate parking at the south end.

The mayor advised that the committee canvass all possibilities on both of the suggestions and make out a formal report to be presented at council.

Newmarket — The tactics of Arthur Maloney, counsel for complainant, were again strongly criticized by N. L. Mathews, K.C., counsel in the defence of the five assessors in the second day of proceedings on Friday. Mr. Mathews criticized the use of a newspaper reporter as a witness; he said that he had never heard of such a policy and argued against the admission of his evidence.

Maloney and Mathews both clashed in opinion as to what effect the industrial assessment had on Newmarket. Members of the finance committee of the town council were not called on Friday, although they had been subpoenaed to appear by counsel for the complainant, Maloney. Said Mr. Maloney, "I have been trying to get admissions from them for the last two days." Defence counsel Mathews declared that they had been in court both days and that Mr. Maloney could have called them at any time.

Magistrate O. S. Hollinrake reserved judgment until April 1 when he will hand down his decision on the charge against Ross Howlett. The magistrate adjourned charges against the other four assessors, Frank Doyle, B. W. Hunter, Joseph Waterhouse and Harold Eaton, until June 24, on agreement of both counsel. Mr. Howlett pleaded not guilty.

The assessors are charged, under two sections of the assessment act, of wilfully neglecting their duty. Magistrate Hollinrake rejected a request by both counsel that evidence from certain witnesses used in the Howlett case be taken for use in the cases against the others.

Objects to Testimony

W. H. Foote, Aurora, a reporter for the Globe and Mail and the Telegram, was questioned by Mr. Maloney on an interview over the phone which he had had with Howlett. Said Mathews, "I would like to know if it would be the policy of newspapers to phone the accused and then use what he said as evidence in court. I take the same attitude toward these tactics as the ones used the last day." Citing a murder case for example, Mr. Mathews said, "A newspaper man could question the accused before the police did and then give evidence in court. I have not heard of such a policy by the papers and I think the court should frown on it."

"It is not the policy of newspapers," declared Mr. Maloney. "This man must obey the law. I heard about the newspaper account and I asked him to appear. He was subpoenaed and, obeying the law, he appeared."

Foote's evidence was confined to testimony on an interview by phone with Howlett after a court of revision meeting on February 3. He said that he was told by Howlett that the assessors were told to assess commercial and residential property. Howlett said that the industries had had an increase in assessment, according to Foote.

Frank Doyle was called as the complainant's witness. Questioned by Maloney, he said that the assessors were visited by Mayor Vale, Reeve Arthur Evans and Deputy Reeve Spillette early in July. "Mr. Waterhouse said that we would be willing to act if there were no instructions from council. It was pointed out to us that there had been an increase on the six industries. We were shown the assessment roll of 1947," said Mr. Doyle.

No Industrial Assessment

"Nothing more was said until later at a meeting in October, about industrial assessment. We were unanimous in agreement that the increase on the industries had been from 70 to 100 percent. Cards were not completed for the six industries as on the other properties. We took the assessments from the 1947 roll plus the increase in May, 1948," said Mr. Doyle.

On the questioning of Mr. Mathews, as to what the town policy toward industry had been, Mr. Doyle said, "They had given fixed assessments and have gone to a great deal of trouble to get industry here."

"Would it be a good policy to 'soak it' for all it's worth?" asked Mr. Mathews. "I think it would be bad policy," the witness replied. On a legal point, Mr. Mathews argued that the assessors were not required by law to do anything between October 4 and November 5 and that these were the dates used in the charge of wilfully neglecting duty.

Maloney stated that the overlooking of the industrial assessments in the re-assessing of the town amounted to discrimination. "This leads to discontentment," he said. "Other property owners resent such discrimination. There was an increase of almost $1,000,000 on the recent re-assessment and I understand that the industries did not pay a penny of it."

On the other hand, counsel for the defence said, "My friend says that the people in Newmarket resent the industrial assessment. However, they could have laid appeals against industry. They have not done so, so it doesn't look as if they resent them."

Apparently," said Mr. Mathews, "the only person who would lay a charge is one who has only been in town a little over a year. No person, to my knowledge, has ever had the effort to lay such a charge before."

No Political Motive

The counsel for the complainant said that he did not believe that the assessors were motivated by political impurities. "But other municipalities should take from this prosecution, that they can not overlook the law in such cases," Mr. Maloney said that the assessors had made a very exhaustive enquiry in the revaluation of property except on industries. He said that the evidence showed that there was intention to leave out the industries on agreement of all assessors at the October meeting.

Referring to the relevant section of the assessment act, the defence counsel said, "These are put down as a guide to assessors and I doubt if everything is followed along every line in the act. I venture to say there is not an assessor in the province who is not guilty of such offences."

Conservation has many meanings. The lumberman thinks of conservation in terms of reforestation and controlled cutting; the hunter and fisherman in terms of restricted catches and restocking of streams and forests; the farmer in terms of maintaining soil fertility and water on the land; the recreation-minded in terms of preserving natural beauty spots, parks and lakes.

Conservation means all of this. As Mr. A. H. Richardson, chief conservation engineer, department of planning and development, told the Aurora Board of Trade last week, conservation deals with land, water, forest, wildlife and recreation. No one of these meanings of conservation can be separated from the others. One depends upon the other, maintenance of soil fertility requires water conservation, in turn requiring reforestation. Wildlife and recreation follow as a result of reforestation.

We hear so much about conservation that many are inclined to discount its value as a fad, as academic theories bearing little relation to the fact of water supply and soil fertility on a 100-acre farm. To take such an attitude is to blind oneself to the evidence about us, the dreary wastes of sand east of Newmarket, and its partial reclamation by reforestation through the county forest committee. It is to ignore the experience of most farmers in this area who almost yearly find, if they are not practising conservation, that their soil bears less and their water supply is lowered. It is to ignore the thousands of deserted farms in Ontario with their land surface cut with erosion, their fields littered with stones, and their soil too thin to support a paying crop.

And it is to ignore the very real improvements in yield and water supply, in the maintenance of perpetual wood lots that follow the consistent use of sound farming and conservation practices.

What can one do? He can ask a government soil expert to lay out a farming plan for him and to follow it with an open mind. A government expert will analyse his soil, indicate which crops will thrive best, re-set the fence lines to take advantage of the slope of the land, recommend and advise. Many who have sought this advice have ignored it when given; it has represented a too radical departure from practice. And continuing the old and destructive methods of farming, lose much of what they might have had from their land.

Year after year, the cycle of spring floods and summer drought becomes more pronounced. In western Ontario, truckers were hauling water to stock in the same areas where the spring floods annually cost property owners thousands of dollars and the run-off costs the farmer untold value in top soil. Farming cannot thrive under such conditions, particularly at this time when the producer is caught between consumer pressure and the high cost of materials and labor. He must make every effort to get the most from his land, and to ensure he will continue to get the most from his land by maintaining it at a high fertility level through proper conservation methods.

To put it another way, the consumer is being asked to subsidize the farmer whose carelessness towards conservation methods is raising the cost of his products. In these inflated days, the consumer cannot afford that cost. The tumbling price of butter is an indication of what the consumer thinks of farm prices. If the farmer would lower his costs by increasing his yield through sound farming practices and conservation, farm products would cost the consumer less and profit the farmer more.

Conservation is related to farm prices just as it is related to all aspects of farm production. The sooner this is more generally appreciated, the sooner conservation will be more consistently practised.

C. Of C. Plans For '49

The Chamber of Commerce shows every indication of becoming a force in Newmarket. Last week, executive members met to plan projects the chamber might undertake. Holding a priority position is the erection of a large thermometer to indicate progress in the artificial ice campaign, as well as to advertise the campaign to the citizens and visitors.

Other projects under consideration include safety and clean-up weeks, having the highways leading into Newmarket given a white centre line, a survey of Newmarket's parking problem, methods to better advertise Newmarket as a shopping centre, and the lighting of Eagle St.

The success or failure of the Chamber of Commerce in accomplishing these and other projects will be determined by the support of its membership. The Chamber of Commerce will only reach its maximum effectiveness when it has the full support of all businessmen, just as its benefits will be related to the number of those who contribute towards providing them.

Time Is Ripe For Action

This issue of The Era and Express carries a summary of the Conservation Authorities Act, what it is and what it can accomplish. It can be a most important piece of legislation for Newmarket and Aurora, and for adjoining townships. It will enable these municipalities to attack the problem of conservation along the Holland River together with financial assistance and expert advice from the provincial government.

There is no minimizing the need for conservation measures in the Holland River watershed. The river is polluted. It floods in spring and is dried in the fall. The two major municipalities situated in the watershed, Aurora and Newmarket, face potential water famines. Many areas within the watershed have become desolate through run-off and lack of forest cover. The river offers potential recreation areas, important not only to the people in the municipalities through which it passes but to tourist trade.

Finally through the establishment of a Holland River Conservation Authority under the Conservation Authorities Act, the member municipalities (all those included in the watershed who wish to join) would have a central agency through which to direct their individual efforts, and by which to profit from government grants and advice.

The establishment of such an authority is not without precedent. The Humber Valley Conservation Authority, whose watershed adjoins that of the Holland River watershed, was established last year, and its membership includes Mr. L. P. Evans for Whitchurch township, and Mr. N. D. MacMurchy for King township. In all, there are 11 local authorities which are planning to spend or have begun spending a total of over $3 million in conservation projects.

There is a growing interest in conservation in North York. The success of the Vivian forest, in contrast with those areas where nothing has been done and the land has become desert, the very real shortage of water, individual efforts by farmers and land-owners to reforest their own land, all have contributed to the public interest. The establishment of a Holland River Conservation Authority will provide a common ground for forwarding this interest in large scale projects. A concerted effort now towards the establishment of such an authority will quickly make it a reality.

Provincial Generosity

Each year sees an increase in the benefits to small municipalities from the provincial purse. Newmarket in 1949 will collect grants for artificial ice, for police and fire departments, for roads, for education and recreation. All of this is helpful, but it is debatable whether hand-outs from Queen's Park is the best way to assist smaller municipalities.

The Financial Post points out that when one party collects for another to spend, there is always more risk of waste. At the same time, hand-outs encourage extravagance and sap the vital independence of the small local government. On the municipal level, and particularly in the smaller and rural sections, there is probably the most efficient and democratic administration in the country. To destroy it with generosity is to serve no practical purpose.

The state is the servant, not the master, of the people; the state is their guarantee against infringement on their rights, their agent in international and national issues; it is not the function of the state to assume the direction of those activities which rest on individual choice.

Office Cat reports

Catnips By Ginger

Isabella, my apple dumpling, and some of her girl friends have formed a little organization called the Superior Gender Association which has had far reaching effects. I am afraid, boss. My better half has been made president and I am worried. Frankly there is nothing I fear more than a woman. Organized women strike terror into my heart. But this outfit is more terrifying yet.

Their motto is "Strength Through Femininity" and this doctrine has subsequently established itself in our household. So solidly is it established that I am afraid my position as assistant supreme commander of the house has been undermined considerably. I shall probably be de-ranked to acting corporal without pay.

"The trouble with you males," said Isabella, sergeant-major style, "is that you think you are all so good. Males have been in charge of everything for too long. They run the government, the army, business and politics. Maybe one of these days, things will be different. With women running this world, it might be a half decent place to live in."

"But Isabella, my sweet," said I, "if the world were run like our household with you in charge, for example, think of the discontentment there would be." That was the wrong thing to have said and I was banished to the kitchen patrol for floor scrubbing duties.

Then the other day, the Superior Gender Association had a meeting at our house. They played bridge for a while and then had a general business meeting. I hid in a closet and listened.

My dumpling opened the meeting with a little speech. "Males," said she, "are on the way out, girls, and organized womanhood will take over. There is a place for women in everything, politics, business and civil service and what have you. Many of us here have had experience in our homes at taking over the reins of authority. We must use that experience to take over the reins of power in the public and economic life of our country . . ." and so on.

This female dogma is getting too strong, I tell you boss. It is prevalent everywhere. I say that kind of mad philosophy is dangerous and I think it is high time some counter-measures were taken. Political tactics are unscrupulous now, I admit. Business is shrewd. But think of what it would mean if females controlled everything. Unless checked, the females will push us males right under if we don't watch out.

I am tell you this, boss, at some considerable personal risk. If Isabella knew that I am doing this I would probably be confined to the kitchen, nights, for two weeks. This is my contribution to maintaining the supreme rights of the male, but let me rest in the shadows of anonymity.

At the last meeting, the girls were cooking up something about union security against male domination, according to Isabella. She keeps talking about the ultimate showdown—which sounds ominous to me. I just thought you would like to know about these things boss. There are covetous eyes on the position now occupied by the male. Let us be aware of it.

by "Back Concession"

The Top Six Inches

In our towns and cities in the small apartments, there is no room for the old folks. The old folks seem to have become a problem. Some people on the farm have a real good system. From the outside, the farm house looks like a good-sized house, but when you get inside it, it is two complete homes. The old folks live on one side while the son or daughter lives on the other. This way father and mother never have to leave their home. A lifetime on the farm for a man and woman and in their old age to have to be moved is not good. But every family is not so lucky as to have a double house.

Here is what could be done. About six or eight farm people, about 50 to 60 years of age, could form a co-operative farm. There would have to be a good-sized farm house and plenty of water. The farm house would be made into small apartments of bedroom and sitting-room. There would be hot water heating, a central dining-room and kitchen and lounge room. This system is not to make money but to give security in old age. They would have to hire one able man to carry on the heavy farm work and one able woman for work in the house.

Old people living alone often complain that they are lonesome. Living together would answer this need. If they felt like working they could. When the time came when they could not care for themselves, they would be taken care of.

Projects like this one have been set up by church groups and work very well. There are plenty of farm people of middle-age who find that they cannot put in a day's work and have not enough money to retire on. To start there would have to be group study, a good 100-acre farm would have to be selected. Then the cost per person would be issued in loan units.

Suppose the farm cost $10,000, stock and equipment $6,000. If there were eight people in the group the loan units would be $2,000 each. The accounts would have to be kept. Some people might be able to give eight hours work a day while others would only give one or two hours. The land would give security.

On the farm could be provided milk, butter, eggs, meat, vegetables. With a deep-freeze unit meat could be kept. With a home canning unit it would be no trouble to keep a supply of vegetables. The large expense would be fuel, taxes and lighting. In the group there should be included one nurse, one bookkeeper who would keep track of all farm accounts and time each person put in. If friends came in for meals, this would be charged up to the individual accounts. If any person was away for meals this would be taken off. With labor-saving machinery on the farm, the labor would not come too heavy on anyone. The project would give small income group security. There is no reason why 100 acres of farm land cannot support and give security to at least eight people. What would become of invested money after death could be worked out later. The whole thing would be to know that you will be taken care of in your old age and that it is your right to be taken care of. Cheerio.

The inhabitants of Newland, the farmers and settlers of the surrounding country journeyed to Newmarket to see Queen Victoria's son and their future king. Everyone was charmed with the bonnie young Prince. It was then decided by the inhabitants of Newland that this memorable event should be commemorated by changing the name from Newland to Mount Albert, which was done early in 1861.
Earlier in the history of the settlement road making was not the success that it is today. The 8th of East Gwillimbury was surveyed by the early pathfinders to make a road through the dense, boggy swamp. Therefore the settlers were compelled to find a road on higher ground.

At that time a bridge path or Indian trail was the only road north and south over the hill. Then the settlers south of the hill decided to widen the trail. Each settler to give half the width of a road off his holding. Unfortunately the settlers were not all of one accord or one mind. One man gave his share, his neighbor, refusing to give little or none at all. Thus the crooked and winding centre road, south for the first mile and quarter. In the next mile and quarter it would appear the settlers were more harmonious. We can judge that as we wind around the curves and angles in the centre road south.
However, we have been told there was a fine class of settlers, mostly from England and Ireland. The women sharing in the toil and hardships in clearing their bush farms. They lived in peace with the world and their neighbors, except, probably, some may have lost their equilibrium at logging bees and other joyous occasions. Artificial Ice Need Inspires Poet To Verse

The following verse is from the Kincardine News. It is just as appropriate to Newmarket. We have it courtesy of Jack "Mac" Macdonald.
Mayor Bennett called a meeting and I think it's very nice, To back the youth of the town and give them artificial ice. It would be a good investment for the town and very wise, To think this summer resort had artificial ice. Good fortune comes our way so we better take a slice, Of modern methods up to date like artificial ice.
The Scotsman loves his porridge and the Chinese his rice, But girls and boys of every race love artificial ice. Give the miser his money and the gambler his dice, And let us give Kincardine arena artificial ice. If we could see the good results we'd gladly pay the price, By giving all the girls and boys nice artificial ice. Let's brush out juvenile delinquency and all its petty vice, And the natural solution is artificial ice.

That's what you get in the

by
"Jack" Smith, M.P.
North York

The eagerly anticipated budget was brought down in the house Tuesday night and has received a hearty welcome across the country. Budget night always is an interesting and exciting one in the house. The galleries were crowded, practically every member was in his seat, there were no private conversations in progress, no paper reading, as members listened in hushed silence to the words of the minister of finance. The contents of the budget are top ranking secret, and while given to press men a few hours before delivery so they can digest its contents and give the story to the country, the press representatives are confined in rooms closely guarded as are jurymen during a trial. Not until the minister has made his pronouncements to parliament are the press representatives free to release the facts over the wires and over the air to all parts of Canada and the world.

The budget with which I will deal more fully in future letters is a realistic one, and while giving tax relief recognizes the problems facing our country and makes provision for emergencies. Budgeting for a nation is just the same in principle as budgeting for a household or a business. The government decides what services and allowances are necessary for the coming year, estimates their cost and levies taxes to cover the amount. The budget presented Tuesday no doubt does not meet the wishes or hopes of all, but it is the best possible in the light of existing conditions, and after all I do not think the people of Canada want anything but a sound budget based on realities. This budget is designed to continue prosperity in Canada and thus bring the greatest good to the greatest number throughout the coming years.

Morning Settings
In a determined effort to get the control legislation passed before March 31 the house this week has had morning as well as afternoon and evening sessions and will sit on Saturday.

In a division on a resolution to introduce the Control Bill, the government was supported 141 to 53, all C.C.F., Social Credit, and independent members voting with the administration. The official opposition led by Mr. Drew was alone. Even the opposition, however, concede that some controls still are necessary and their objection was against the method rather than the principle. The control legislation provided for 57 controls, while the bill introduced this year provides for only 12, covering commodities subject to price ceiling, rental control, also steel and timber controls. The C.C.F. supports the government's action but takes the stand there should be more controls.

Atlantic Pact
The details of the Atlantic Security Pact were given to the house this week, and while there may be some criticism there is general agreement here that the pact is our best possible guarantee of peace. Our minister of external affairs, Hon. L.B. Pearson, and Prime Minister St. Laurent were prime movers in suggesting the Security Pact to the Western democracies so Canadians may well take special pride and satisfaction in the consummation of this historic agreement. That Canada intends to back up the Atlantic Security Pact with action as well as words is evidenced by the increase in national defence estimates for the coming year of over $124 million, the total cost being $375 million.

Farm Publications
The dominion department of agriculture has available for free distribution some 350 publications on a wide variety of subjects and I wonder if our people in North York make as much use of this service as they might. The bulk of material has been produced primarily for use of farmers and others concerned with agriculture and related fields. These publications are intended to assist the farmers by presenting latest findings on such matters as cultural practices, varieties of crop plants, livestock production, pest control, marketing information, etc. Some present the result of experiment and research. Consumer bulletins are prepared for use of housewives and consumers generally. They emphasize the dieting value of various food products and encourage the use of food in good supply such as onions at the present time. Orders for these publications may be addressed to "Information Service, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa." I will be pleased to send to anyone on request a list of these available publications or will arrange to forward publications on any particular subjects to anyone in the riding. Just let me know the particular subjects in which you are interested and I will forward the available publications.

Strong Currency
In a forceful and convincing speech supporting the resolution to continue for another two years the Foreign Exchange Control Board, Finance Minister Abbott declared Canada has one of the strongest currencies in the world and in clear detail outlined government policy on the valuation of the dollar. In a lengthy review of Canada's exchange and trading position, Mr. Abbott said that the revaluation of the dollar as proposed by some opposition members would increase Canadian living and business costs and would decrease our trade. To anyone particularly interested in this exchange problem I will be pleased to send a complete report of Mr. Abbott's explanation and also text of the remarks of Mr. McDonald who put forward the Conservative viewpoint on the subject and Mr. Coldwell who spoke for the C.C.F.

Footnote-Notes

BY WILLIAM FOOTE
AURORA EDITOR

In Aurora, a by-law ensures that all service stations are closed by 7 p.m. nightly. For a three-month period during the summer the closing time is extended to 9 p.m. The by-law has been in force for almost a year and was passed by the council following a petition by the local gas pump proprietors.

There is much to be said in favor of this arrangement. Any tendency towards cut-throat competition is minimized. At the same time a proprietor and his employees can put in a normal working day and be free to relax in the evening. By and large there is not enough evening business to warrant the service stations remaining open.

Nonetheless, the provisions for evening emergencies are not adequate. Travel is not restricted to the daylight hours. A motorist who gets in difficulties in or near Aurora between dusk and dawn is just out of luck. If a minor repair is all that is required, he must wait over until morning.

The car must be classed as essential. We are dependant upon gas pumps as well. That being the case, service stations are just what the name implies; strategically-placed depots which are necessary to keep cars running.

Of necessity we must often drive at night. Yet the service necessary that our car can run is provided during the day only. Promptly at 7 p.m. the pumps shut down and we are expected to put our cars away for the night.

It is not necessary that all service stations stay open at night. It is necessary that there

We would like to take this opportunity to toss a bouquet in the direction of Mr. Lyle Sparks. Last Thursday night Mr. Sparks opened his cabaret. A gala occasion, it saw a few hundred Aurora-ites dancing and dining in festive mood in their own community. Attractive in every way, the cabaret boasts a spacious dance floor and promises to be a popular local night spot from now on. We extend our congratulations to Mr. Sparks who has succeeded in providing Aurora with a long-needed medium for evening relaxation.

Complete Text Of North Atlantic Pact

Preamble
The parties to this treaty re-affirm their faith in the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations and their desire to live in peace with all peoples and all governments.

They are determined to safeguard the freedom, common heritage and civilization of their peoples, founded on the principles of democracy, individual liberty and the rule of law.

They seek to promote stability and well-being in the North Atlantic area.

They are resolved to unite their efforts for collective defence and for the preservation of peace and security.

They therefore agree to this North Atlantic treaty:

Article 1
The parties undertake, as set forth in the Charter of the United Nations, to settle any international disputes in which they may be involved by peaceful means in such a manner that international peace and security and justice are not endangered, and to refrain in their international relations from the threat or use of force in any manner inconsistent with the purposes of the United Nations.

Article 2
The parties will contribute toward the further development of peaceful and friendly international relations by strengthening their free institutions, by bringing about a better understanding of the principles upon which these institutions are founded, and by promoting conditions of stability and well-being. They will seek to eliminate conflict in their international economic policies and will encourage economic collaboration between any or all of them.

Article 3
In order more effectively to achieve the objectives of this treaty, the parties, separately and jointly, by means of continuous and effective self-help and mutual aid, will maintain and develop their individual and collective capacity to resist armed attack.

Article 4
The parties will consult together whenever, in the opinion of any of them, the territorial integrity, political independence or security of any of the parties is threatened.

Article 5
The parties agree that an armed attack against one or more of them in Europe or North America shall be considered an attack against them all; and consequently they agree that, if such an armed attack occurs, each of them, in exercise of the right of individual or collective self-defence recognized by Article 51 of the Charter of the United Nations, will assist the party or parties so attacked by taking forthwith, individually and in concert with the other parties, such action as it deems necessary, including the use of armed force to restore and maintain the security of the North Atlantic area.

Any such armed attack and all measures taken as a result thereof shall immediately be reported to the Security Council. Such measures shall be terminated when the Security Council has taken the measures necessary to restore and maintain international peace and security.

Article 6
For the purpose of Article 5 an armed attack on one or more of the parties is deemed to include an armed attack on the territory of any of the parties in Europe or North America, on the Algerian departments of France, on the occupation forces of any party in Europe, on the islands under the jurisdiction of any party in the North Atlantic area north of the Tropic of Cancer or on the vessels or aircraft in this area of any of the parties.

Article 7
This treaty does not affect, and shall not be interpreted as affecting, in any way the rights and obligations under the charter of the parties which are members of the United Nations, or the primary responsibility of the security council for the maintenance of international peace and security.

Article 8
Each party declares that none of the international engagements now in force between it and any other of the parties or any third states is in conflict with the provisions of this treaty, and undertakes not to enter into any international engagement in conflict with this treaty.

Article 9
The parties hereby establish a Council, on which each of them shall be represented, to consider matters concerning the implementation of this treaty. The Council shall be so organized as to be able to meet promptly at any time. The Council shall set up such subsidiary bodies as may be necessary; in particular it shall establish immediately a defence committee which shall recommend measures for the implementation of Articles 3 and 5.

Article 10
The parties may, by unanimous agreement, invite any other European state in a position to further the principles of this treaty and to contribute to the security of the North Atlantic area to accede to this treaty. Any state so invited may become a party to the treaty by depositing its instrument of accession with the Government of the United States of America. The Government of the United States of America will inform each of the parties of the deposit of each such instrument of accession.

Article 11
This treaty shall be ratified and its provisions carried out by the parties in accordance with their respective constitutional processes. The instruments of ratification shall be deposited as soon as possible with the Government of the United States of America, which will notify all the other signatories of each deposit. The treaty shall enter into force between the states which have ratified it as soon as the ratifications of the majority of the signatories, including the ratifications of Belgium, Canada, France, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, the United Kingdom and the United States have been deposited and shall come into effect with respect to other states on the date of the deposit of their ratifications.

Article 12
After the treaty has been in force for ten years, or at any time thereafter, the parties shall, if any of them so requests, consult together for the purpose of reviewing the treaty, having regard for the factors then affecting peace and security in the North Atlantic area, including the development of universal as well as regional arrangements under the Charter of the United Nations for the maintenance of international peace and security.

Article 13
After the treaty has been in force for 20 years, any party may cease to be a party one year after its notice of denunciation has been given to the Government of the United States of America, which will inform the governments of the other parties of the deposit of each notice of denunciation.

Article 14
This treaty, of which the English and French texts are equally authentic, shall be deposited in the archives of the Government of the United States of America. Duly certified copies thereof will be transmitted by that Government to the governments of the other signatories.

Are You Asthmatic?
Here's How To Get Relief

Mrs. A. Dennis,

Miss A. M. Fenn, R.N.,
Fenn-dale Health Resort
and Rest Home,
66 Gorham St.,
Newmarket, Ont.
Dear Miss Fenn:

I just have to write and tell you how much better Walter is since taking your Treatments.

Walter had Asthma so badly all the ten years of his life none of us got our proper rest at night we had to watch him so closely. We tried everything we heard about—at a great expense to us—and great suffering for Walter. This is Walter's first winter to enjoy skating and other winter fun with the other children, he too goes to school every day now.

Walter loved the Treatments too. It was no trouble to get him to go for his treatments, and he often said, "and no nasty medicine to take"—which means so much to a child.

There was a wonderful change in Walter after his third treatment. Walter only took 30 treatments all told and has enjoyed his first winter.

We want you to use this letter to show others, or to publish in the papers if you want to. We are so happy about Walter we want others to know that they too may enjoy the speedy—and thus far—permanent relief Walter has enjoyed.

Yours truly,
Mrs. Alfred Dennis,

H.S. Assn. Lenten Meeting Hears Of Work In Pakistan

Newmarket — The March 22 meeting of the Home and School Association was held at the Alexander Muir school with Mrs. C. E. Wheeland presiding. It was the special Lenten meeting.

Two selections, sung by a chorus of about 20 boys and girls from the Grade VIII class (A.M.S.) and directed by Herman Fowler, were outstanding. The religious committee, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Bert Budd, took charge of the program. As projects this year the committee has presented the first grades with small books on Bible stories. This is the first of a series of books which will be presented to all the elementary grades. Religious pictures have also been provided to the junior classes.

Mrs. Francis Starr, a graduate of the Simpson College, and post graduate of the Yale School of Nursing, gave a talk on her work in Pakistan. Mrs. Starr told of the closeness of the family unit, but of the lack of care for those of broken families. "There was no one to care for the orphan children and over nine million people had been disrupted by the recent upheavals in India and Pakistan," she stated. Mrs. Starr's fluent delivery added much to the appreciation of her inspiring talk.

HOME STUDY TALK PART II Use Of Child's Leisure Time

The following is a second in the series on providing for the proper use of a child's leisure time, taken from the text of an address by Miss Eva Barnes to a Home Study Group here.

Children need a place to carry on their activities and to keep their materials—some indoors and some outside. Can they use part of the basement, a part of a room or part of the attic—some place where they can make a mess if necessary, where they can bring their friends and where they can play together without being in the way of the rest of the family. Our community centres, schools and churches have leisure time programs but the home should not step out of the field because of what is provided elsewhere.

Survey your community, libraries, athletic program, crafts, arts, dramatics, etc. Are these fully used? How much organized and supervised activity is there for your child? Yet in co-operative activity in groups facilities not possible for individuals may be provided. Places for play outside the home are just as essential as places inside the home.

DOES YOUR BACK ACHE?

Sitting in a draft—working in a damp place—wet feet—there are dozens of things which may cause a backache! But there's one way thousands of Canadians have found to help relieve this condition—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This effective remedy tones up both the kidneys and the liver, and brings welcome relief from pain in the small of the back caused by "cold" in the kidneys. So insist on this reliable remedy—proven by over half a century's use—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. At all drug counters.

Require Materials

Some kinds of play require materials. Many of these are expensive so parents hesitate to provide them until they are sure the child will make good use of them. Materials should be provided where possible when the child expresses a beginning interest but the simplest of them should be acquired at first, then gradually increased as the interest increases. When interest is established, the child himself might make some effort to help provide the material. He might use some of his gift money, some of his regular allowance—some of the money formerly spent on the so-called comic books or movies.

Children must be provided with suggestions for leisure time activities without imposing our ideas on them. Although they should be self-chosen, a bit of careful planning will provide the stimulus. Have you tried reading to your children? Have you read with them? I have found that reading part of a story for them will arouse enough interest that they long to finish it themselves. If you can interest the children in good literature instead of nagging about the trash in comic books it will be a great help. Usually children are interested if you are. Go to the bookstore with your children when they go to choose their books. At first they will desire those which have bright and fascinating pictures. If they are unable to read them, read for them.

When they have mastered reading ability provide them with books they can easily read and understand, books well and beautifully illustrated. I think we are indeed fortunate to be living in an age when there are so many delightful children's books. If parents read good literature, talk about it, make it available without the direct suggestion that the child read it, it may stimulate him to find pleasure in it. I believe that too much attention is drawn to comics by the discussion of them in front of the child. It seems to me that's the way to arouse their interest in them.

Perhaps the most important part of the picture is the example provided by adults. School children tend to adopt adult patterns of behaviour. Those who come in contact with people interested in a variety of hobbies get ideas and stimulus to try some of these things for themselves. Why did you become interested in hobbies? Was it not because you saw someone else at them? Many children who show no desire for profitable recreation are living with adults whose only idea of play is to be entertained by radio, movies, books or parties of some kind.

Homemakers' Exchange

When the ham is almost finished, the problem arises of how to use every last tidbit in a way that is both attractive and appetizing.

If put through the mincer, the ground ham may be used in sandwiches or if a cup of ground ham and a few vegetables are added to a cream sauce, the Creamed Ham may be served on toast. Or, when topped with crumbs and reheated in the oven, it becomes Ham Casserole. Either of these methods will stretch the small amount of meat to serve six people. One-half cup of ham, sprinkled between layers of raw potatoes when making scalloped potatoes makes them into a main dish for supper.

HAM CUSTARD

4 Eggs 2 Cups milk
1 Cup chopped celery
1 Cup cooked ham, finely chopped
1 Tbsp. chopped pickle
1/2 Tsp. mustard
1/2 Tsp. salt 1/2 Tsp. pepper

Beat eggs, heat milk and pour over eggs, add celery, ham, pickles, and seasonings. Pour into a greased baking dish or individual moulds. Place in pan of hot water and oven-poach in a moderate oven (350 degrees), until custard is firm—about 45 minutes. Serve hot, or chill then turn out and serve on lettuce. Yield: six servings.

SCALLOPED MACARONI AND HAM

2 Tbsp. fat 2 Tbsp. flour
1 Tsp. salt 2 Cups milk
2 Cups cut macaroni (4 ozs.)
1 Cup diced, cooked ham
1/2 Cup grated, sharp cheese
Paprika

Sift flour, cornmeal and salt. Cut in shortening until the pieces are the size of small peas. Add cold water, blend and roll out into a 10" x 14" rectangle.

Filling:
2 Cups minced, cooked ham
2 Eggs, slightly beaten
1 Cup cooked or canned tomatoes
1 Cup diced celery
2 Tbsp. minced onion
1/2 Tsp. salt 1/2 Tsp. pepper
1/2 Cup fine cracker crumbs

Mix all ingredients together and place down the centre of the pastry rectangle. Fold the ends up over the loaf and press down firmly. Fold sides up over loaf and press edges together. Place, with joined side down, in a baking pan. Bake in a very hot oven (425 degrees) for 25 minutes. Make three slits in the top crust. Lower heat to 350 degrees and continue baking for 50 minutes. Yield: six servings.

Holland Watershed Can Take United Action To End Erosion, Restore Water Sources

The area drained by the Holland River offers plenty of evidence of need for sound conservation practices on a large scale. The river is dirty and of no use for recreation. In the spring it floods and in the fall, it is dry. Untreated sewage is dumped in it. Its banks are without any sort of cover to hold topsoil. Some sections of its watershed have been made useless by erosion. Within the watershed, two municipalities face water shortages. In Aurora during hot summers water must be conserved. Newmarket has searched in vain for new wells.

Yet at one time, the Holland watershed was fruitful, the river deep and constant, the soil in the area fertile and moist. To do nothing about the conditions which now exist will encourage eventual disaster. That needn't be. Something can be done, and by the people who have the most to benefit, the inhabitants of the watershed. Through the Conservation Authorities Act, they can establish a local conservation authority for the watershed which, acting as the agent of all the municipalities who lie partly or wholly within the watershed, can undertake large-scale conservation action.

The first step in establishing a conservation authority is the petitioning of the minister of public works by two or more municipalities situated in or partly in the watershed to call a meeting to establish it. The meeting must pass a resolution and send it to the minister of public works after which the lieutenant-governor in council may establish a conservation authority.

A conservation authority can build dams and reservoirs, expropriate land for carrying out its schemes, collaborate with other departments, agencies, municipal councils and local boards and other organizations to plant trees and do research. It can divert any river or water course or any road for the purpose of a scheme.

Money required by the authority is divided into funds for capital expenditures and money for the maintenance of its works including salaries and office expenses. Money to defray capital expenditures is raised by debentures or otherwise by each municipality in proportion to the benefits it receives. The money for maintenance is raised by tax levy on each municipality in the same proportions.

Grants can be accepted and the act specifically states that a grant can be given by the province. Plans and their descriptions of schemes are submitted to the ministers of planning and development, lands and forests, and public works before they are carried out.

The name of any authority set up in a watershed district is determined by the lieutenant-governor in council. If the lieutenant-governor in council makes a grant to an authority he may appoint the chairman of the authority, the chairman of the executive committee or a member of the authority. The officers of the authority are chairman and vice-chairman. A scheme can mean any type of work undertaken by an authority for the purpose of conservation, restoration and development of natural resources other than gas, oil, coal and minerals, and the control of water in order to prevent floods and pollution or for any such purpose.

With an authority over the district watershed, much effort could be put forth to overcome erosion, waste, floods and at the same time, to make the country a more beautiful place to live and play in.

Should File Tax Return If Only For Record - Forums

Three to one, Ontario Farm Radio Forums think farmers should file income tax returns when income is not taxable. Eight to one of those who opposed to this idea, feel they should keep records in any event.

Roseville in Waterloo speaks for a number when they report that they are willing to file income tax returns whether or not income is taxable, as soon as the proper concessions and exemptions are made for farmers, and as soon as the excess profits tax laws are re-enacted. The majority feel income tax forms should be filed in order to have available records, to give the government a proper estimate of the agricultural income, to properly record for the five-year plan, to have available information in settling estates, and also to have true facts for everybody.

The main difficulties? "Complicated forms", report the largest number of groups. Kearns East in Temiskaming was one forum suggesting a short course in bookkeeping. Lack of proper detailed accounts ranked next in line. This was closely followed by objection to the forms changing each year, and having to jump here and there over the sheets in filling them out. Marshall Road in Haldimand express the opinion of many when they tell us that figuring out depreciation is the main difficulty.

"More simple tax forms", topped the list of suggestions for improving the forms. Next was the request for income tax forms for farmers only. Rural people don't hesitate to advise themselves to keep records. Only by so doing does the farmer know his financial standing. Little Lake in Norfolk says this would show that farmers aren't shirking their responsibilities. Glasgow Station in Renfrew says it would show the urban population that the farmer is no profiteer. Farmers do not have receipts for many small bills and this adds to income tax difficulties.

The plan regarding produce tax suggested on the broadcast, was rejected five to one. However, this proved to be the most popular broadcast of the season, according to the summarizing of the reports received in the office.

Mrs. H. White, president of the Women's Institute, presided. Lunch and candy were served by the girls.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kingdon, Vandorf, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Gardhouse of Weston, and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Scott, Clarkson, attended the Hubert-Cameron wedding which took place at High Park United church and later for the reception at Kilcooley Gardens, Lake Shore Rd.

Miss Audrey Switzer spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Switzer.

Several ladies of this community have attended the quilting bee in the church basement.

The girls' choir of Aurora high school, of which Misses Ruth and Joyce Sleeth and Betty Richardson are members, were chosen among the Star performers of the Kiwanis Festival at Massey Hall last Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Powell are spending a week in Williamsburg, Virginia, U.S.A.

Hobby Club Discusses Margarine Issue

Sharon—The Women's Hobby club met March 15 at the home of the president, Mrs. John Farr, Sharon. The Cheerio committee reported a plant sent to Mrs. A. Dike, whom we are glad to hear is home from hospital, cards of thanks were received from Mrs. J. Breen and Mrs. L. J. Farr and a verbal vote of thanks given by Mrs. Sheldon Walker.

Mrs. Morrison became a member. Mrs. G. Barker gave splendid current events and Mrs. A. Brenair conducted a lively question box. Margarine again came in for its share of discussion. Farmers are not selling butter and buying margarine yet their purchasing power is being greatly reduced by consumers who expect farmers to buy their manufactured goods. Farm people are large scale consumers. There is no real substitute for butter, it was said, and if margarine is to be sold, it should be in its natural coloring or white, that colored margarine may be sold to restaurant caterers as butter at higher price, and even those who favor margarine declare its price is too high and too varied. Consumers are asked to express their opinion on color of margarine and if they use both margarine and butter replies will no doubt be made, but rural people remain silent in an official way at least.

Mrs. Reid Brumwell, Victoria Square, and Mrs. Paul Snider, Edgeley, directors for York Co-operative Medical Services, were present to speak on and discuss this project; much information was gained.

An article Old Warrior, written for Canadian Home Journal, a resume of the life of Miss Agnes Macphail, M.P.P., was read and much enjoyed.

Mrs. E. Long demonstrated a beautiful lace crocheted cloth and offered the design to the members. A St. Patrick's group contest and dainty lunch concluded a pleasant afternoon. The next meeting will be at Mrs. Alton Baldson's home April 10.

Blindcraft Work Feature Of Coming Hobby Show

Newmarket—Frank J. Vandenberg and Herbert J. Lowe are busily preparing for the April 6 and 7 hobby show. Through the capable training received from the Canadian National Institute for the Blind these men, despite their great handicap of lost sight, maintain their independence.

Interested particularly in reed work, Mr. Vandenberg, who lost his sight in 1942, plans to have over a dozen different types of articles ready for the show. Clothes hampers, magazine racks, sewing cabinets of woven reed or plastic fibre are but a few of the items he makes. Last fall another trainer from the C.N.I.B. came to Mr. Vandenberg's own home to teach him to make rubber door mats. These, too, will be included in his exhibit at the hobby show.

Mr. Lowe, who lost his sight in 1946, is also interested in the woven reed work. He will have a display of these items ready for the show. However, Mr. Lowe is particularly interested in leather work. He will have change purses, belts, wallets, playing card holders of both leather and plastic at the show. Ladies' purses in brown, black and alligator leather and in plastics in a wide range of colors should receive much attention from the public.

This hobby show is being held under the auspices of the handicraft group of the recreation commission. It will include all types of arts, crafts and hobbies of local interest. Plan to attend.

Brooder House Burns Lose 250 Young Chicks

Monday afternoon a sudden fire on the farm tenanted by H. Schlichter on the third of Whitechurch destroyed a brooder house containing 250 young chicks. The fire is believed to have started when the brooder stove overheated. According to Mr. Schlichter, who had been hauling fertilizer to nearby fields, "I went inside the brooder house to make sure everything was okay before I went out with my last load. Coming back I noticed smoke pouring out. I raced to the brooder house in order to get the bottle of fuel oil, which feeds the stove, out before it broke with the heat. It exploded just as I got to the door and the place shot up in flames."

In a very short time nearly 30 neighbors gathered and formed a bucket brigade, throwing water and snow on the fire. Despite their efforts, the building was destroyed by the time the Aurora fire department arrived.

History of Belhaven Told W.I. Meeting

Belhaven—The March meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Kidd with a record attendance. Plans are being made of the family banquet to be held during the Easter holidays. Papers, prepared by Mrs. Kay, were read by Mrs. Bernard Davidson, Mrs. Erwin Winch and Mrs. Harry Horner on current events, the history of Sharon Temple, and "Do You Remember?", respectively.

The main paper, "The Village History," was given by Mrs. L. Kay. This paper may well be the beginning of a book as it traces the history of Belhaven and surrounding community for many years back. Any donations will be gratefully received by the author.

The antiques brought to the meeting by the members served to renew memories of grandparents and great-grandparents. All were given a truer picture of life as it used to be. This very interesting meeting was terminated by a social half-hour during which the hostesses, Mrs. W. Anderson, Mrs. Elja Willoughby and Mrs. Donald Anderson served lunch.

The Common Round...

By Isabel Inglis Colville

TWO EVENINGS

Once in a great while, one captures "youth's first careless rapture," and I think all we older folk who attended high school night March 18 felt that at least we were on the edge of it, for there was a joyousness about the whole program that only youth knows.

To speak first of the Glee club. There is a soaring, surging quality in young voices, if properly trained that seems symbolic of all that youth stands for, hopes for and will some day, God willing, attain.

One thing I particularly admire about Mr. Fowler's work with young people is the absolute lack of forcing—the flow of sound is sweet, sustained and limited to what young voices should aspire to. Pronunciation was splendid, enunciation good too, although I missed a few words of the numbers I didn't know. But missing a few words is a compliment to conductor and chorus—it was good!

When I saw the Irish Jig and the square dance I wished with all my heart that in my school days, there had been such delightful ways to develop physique and to give grace and poise to youthful figures.

High School Play

The play, High School Daze, was good and its defects were those of youth and inexperience. Mr. James had done a good piece of work and the only drawback to one's full enjoyment was that all the script did not get across. Sometimes the speaker's voice lowered at the end of sentences and sometimes they turned away just as one wanted to hear particularly—but these are defects easily remedied. The piano solo was excellent. I, for one, would have liked to hear more. Joan Widdfield would do well to keep on in this line of her education. The two readings by Harvey Evans showed, I thought, an elocutionist in the making. Perhaps the first number could have been a little more restrained, but both showed excellent promise.

The six-legged trio, Donald Brice, Ross Cotton and Donald Budd, was something to raise any one's drooping spirits. It's too bad Al Jolson was not there to hear, see and enjoy it. The vocal solo by Patsy Dunn, Sing Sweet Bird, showed a delightful voice in the making.

When we adjourned to the gym, I did not know that we were to see a circus in embryo, but there it was.

In all the strain and stress and chaos of modern living, I suppose a sane mind in a sound body is one of the greatest assets youth can have, and here we saw this ideal taking shape. Altogether March 18 gave us an evening of insight into the educational system of our secondary schools and what we saw was good.

Business and Professional Women's Club Meets

The meeting place? A dinner at the King George hotel, Newmarket. I always maintain that a good dinner puts one in a mellow mood, ready to absorb—not more physical nourishment, but all sorts of mental pabulum.

This dinner was all that one could ask of a dinner and as one partook of the tender, juicy roast beef and its accompaniments, one discussed the affairs of mice and men and then settled back to listen to the speakers of the evening. The president introduced Miss McNab, Hamilton, who spoke on the club symbol and the creed. She took each feature of the symbol and gave her interpretation of it. She said it showed the seeking, forward looking, courageous, friendly attitude of the present day woman.

She wondered if we valued the freedoms and privileges we have and asked us if we used the franchise as we should. If we did then there was nothing we could not accomplish. We should, she went on, work for everything that will uplift and forward the cause of women everywhere. The B. and P. club aims to give assistance to those who, having talent, find their resources inadequate. She said that the club creed, which of course is not a monopoly of the B. and P. but is used by many women's organizations, if lived up to would make something very fine of the lives of the members.

Mrs. Ion moved a vote of thanks to Miss McNab and then the second speaker, Mrs. Armstrong-Collins, Toronto, spoke on the aims and aspirations of the club. She said that no club should feel itself alone—that behind it was the combined force of the federation. The first two years of a club's existence were the hardest, after that it went forward more assuredly.

She said the clubs of Poland and Czechoslovakia were now non-existent, but Germany and Austria still had an associate membership. She felt that members from the various clubs should visit between themselves and so learn what each other was doing.

The promotion of fellowship between the workers and between the B. and P. and other women's organizations should be strengthened, for in unity and numbers there was power. The rest of the evening was given over to business and a thorough discussion of it.

And so the March dinner meeting of the B. and P. club went into the annals of the past, but its results should show in the future. Next week—The Cat Came Back!

FRIENDS' CHURCH

NEWMARKET

The usual bright program of music and singing will precede the message FOR YOUTH.

Of course, the penalty of choosing the easy way against our better judgment is seldom so tragic. But whenever we make self-damaging compromises or neglect opportunities . . . whenever we turn ourselves into "yes-men" . . . whenever we sidestep duties, obstacles or problems that should be faced—the price is too high!

Only by accepting difficulties as challenges do we develop our full powers.

Scarce more than a century ago, it was impossible for the average man to provide financial security for his dependents in the event of his death. But today, through life insurance, millions have overcome this difficulty and provided security for their loved ones while saving for their own retirement.

News n' Views

By GEORGE HASKETT

Ah! spring is here. Hockey is on the wane. This may be the closing week at the arena. In no time at all Les Beazer will be sweeping the ice out and thoughts will swing to summer sports. Harold Gwyn, who did a fine job of bringing lacrosse back last year, is already talking the gutted stick game like mad. Have heard several suggestions that the Metropolitan League should carry on in this branch of sport. The idea sounds fine. We know the lacrosse would not likely be of the highest calibre but in time rivalry between Aurora, Newmarket, Bradford and Sutton would be drawing the fans out. Headman Gwyn would also like to see juvenile lacrosse in evidence so future talent would be coming along. The enthusiasts will be calling a meeting in the near future so let's have an early start.

Stickhandled over, under and around Ab Hulse's all star pick of the trolley loop. Mr. "Down the Centre" has done a masterful job. Too bad the league's financial condition doesn't permit some sort of recognition of the stars. Another semester, something of this sort should be put on the minutes along with a trophy for the leading scorer. While it is award handing out time, your man at the Underwood votes Myles McInnis and "Swift" Todd Spitfires' most valuable player award. Both were right atop the scoring heap, were plugging hard all season and accounted for some valuable goals. Gord "Whitey" Bone bulwarked our defense and his rushes and blue-line whistlers brought him to the front of the point gaining parade. Most improved player over the season, to my mind, was Deb Cooper, who reached his peak near the end of the race.

Closing up the hockey books with an orchid to the Spitfire management, Johnnie Hines and his chief assister, Larry Sheffe and trainer deluxe Pete Preston did a mighty fine job throughout the winter. Harvey Gibeay in his first coaching year welded the team into a going concern and finally donned his own equipment when injuries struck. Higher up Doug Campbell, Dewey Kuhns, Charlie Boyd and Frank Johnston and transportation expert Bruce Greig kept the club running without a hitch.

The Vets' softball team, thrice crowned champs of the North Yonge circuit, are sporting windbreakers, green with black, this week. A well deserved recognition of three years' effort by Chuck VanZant, "Cecgars" McDonald, Harry Holmes, Harry Boag and Freddie Dillman and their softball boosters' club. The crest was a gift of the recreation commission. We had an invite Sunday from radio man Stew Beare to view hockey from Buffalo via television. Reception from that a-way is not of the best calibre as yet but it's the coming thing.

Police, press and Lions bromalo and east side-west side hockey is likely to become an annual event. In any case, it raised over $125 to the artificial ice campaign. Nice going, men.

Greenshirts Re-Affirm Ice Supremacy

Sutton "Greenshirts" once again proved their supremacy over the Spitfires at the arena Friday in an exhibition fixture in aid of the artificial ice campaign. In fact they left no doubt in the minds of the fans as they romped to a 10 - 3 win. The Greenshirts' puck handling and passing attack again proved a big factor in their victory.

Arriving without the services of their two husky defencemen, Ellis Pringle and Bud Gilbey, the Spitfires counted on an easier path to the Sutton citadel but found the going equally tough with Andy Lonergan and Keith Dunn teaming up on the back wall. Smatter of fact, Dunn started them away with a goal in the first round and Lonergan found time for a single marker in the second. Ken. Davie with a trio of goals and Cros. Brady sniping for two were the big noises on the Sutton score sheet.

Myles McInnis, Stan. Gibbons and "Swift" Todd shot in Spitfires' tallies. Some 400 attended the game, all proceeds of which went to the artificial ice campaign.

Badminton Loop Prepares For Finals

The regular playing schedule of the North York Badminton League was completed this week with Willowdale taking first place. In second position was Aurora, followed by Newmarket and Richmond Hill in third and fourth places respectively.

Playoffs for the league championship are expected to get under way immediately with two sudden-death semi-final matches. Willowdale will engage Newmarket while Aurora will take on Richmond Hill. The two winners of the semi-final rounds will meet for this year's championship, playing a two-out-of-three game final series.

T.H.L. Play-offs Held At Aurora Arena

Since March 10, the Toronto Hockey League has been holding a large number of its playoffs on Aurora ice. Six nights a week and Saturday afternoons the ice is packed with youngsters ranging from minor bantam to intermediate and juvenile. The play-offs as a rule are quite extensive, lasting until on in May when the finals are played in Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto. Meanwhile a good game of hockey can be seen practically any night in Aurora as long as the weather permits ice.

Newmarket 'All Stars' Tie Series With Sharon

Newmarket "All Stars" squared their series with the Sharon Junior Farmers at the arena Monday by downing the visitors 6-4. Sharon eased out a 5-4 win in the previous encounter. This was the nightcap of the triple feature put on in aid of the artificial ice fund.

The marksmen for the Stars were Dave Couch and Ivan Gibson in the initial chapter, "Ortie" Thoms, Ned Skead and "Pepper" Martin in the middle frame and Robert Budd in the final 20 minutes of action. "Chick" Shropshire netted a pair for the Sharon hockey boys, Noel Ash and Bill Dyke, singles.

East-West Classic Splashes To 9-9 Tie

'Twas advertised "Murder at the arena tonight." Some said it was. Others said it was hockey, a few misguided souls said it was shiny. But all agreed—yes every last one—they wouldn't have missed it for the world. That's the description we got of Monday night's feud between East and West when the "Ragged 'A' Nine" and "Rusty Seven" trooped down to the rink to see whose hockey was best.

Ted Robinson had hopes pinned high for his Westerners, Walt Johns wouldn't sell short his East-Siders. As fine a two teams as ever pulled on their skates and after the game was over, nobody could say I told you so, for midst all the skating and splashing it ended 9-9.

You ask: Were there incidents? There were! Enough to keep the fans in an uproar as the puck-chasers—some said they hadn't skated for years and years—did almost everything—just like Duz. They were experts at swan dives. Penalty shots were plenty. Referee Peters even got in Dutch, he couldn't tell which of the Toby twins, Wes or Paul, to send to the hoosegow.

Until the dying moments all went well—then someone shouted the winning side was parking on their side of the street. This touched off a free for all—as might be expected—one grand big log-heap with John Giovannelli on the bottom.

You do want to know who scored the goals? "Lightning" McCabe and "Dynamite" Gwyn sank most of the shots for the West. Walt Johns, Del. Scott, "Cap" Faircy, "Speedy" Brammer, Del. Gibeay and "Syl" Apps with a pair (We thought he'd retired), kept the East-Siders right in there.

They raised $82, friends, for the artificial ice fund! East-Side: goal, Ed. Rivers; defence, Howard Brice, Ed. Hogan; centre, Roy Faircy; wings, "Syl" Apps, Bruce Greig; forwards, Walt Johns, Del. Scott, Harry Brammer, Carl Gabel, Don Cameron.

American, National Leagues End Season With Banquet

Those lads who gave us hockey every Saturday morning in the National (bantam) and American (pee-wee) leagues rang down the curtain on their season at the Scout Hall on Monday night. Under the sponsorship of the recreation commission, some 100 lads, teachers, coaches and commission members sat down to supper. Following dinner and toasts proposed by Russell Broadbent, Chas. VanZant, Mrs. R. Broadbent, Allan Perks and Grant Morton, came the major event of the evening, the presentation of prizes and awards.

H. A. Jackson, public school supervising principal, presented each player of the pennant winning Montreal "Canadiens" with a gift certificate. The runners-up, Chicago "Black Hawks", also were gifted. Mrs. N. L. Mathews, recently elected to head the recreation commission, presented the Bantam "All Stars" with crests and pictures. "This was the team that reached the second round in the O.M.H.A. play-downs. Ted Gould presented crests to the champion Pittsburgh "Hornets", American League. Mrs. Seldon was then called on to present to the top scorers in each league, Bob Forhan and Bob Attwell (tied for National League honors) and Don McKnight of Hersey Rens, American League champ, with a trophy of their achievements. The evening closed with two films and a sing-song.

A word of praise is due Mr. Jackson, Frank Hollingsworth for the capable manner in which the league was conducted, referee Grant Bright and recreation commission headed by Jim Walker for their part in putting the league over.

Down The Centre

By T. A. M. (AB.) HULSE

All district hockey teams with the exception of Jack Elder's Woodbridge rural club, Thornhill midgets of the T.H.L. King Clancy series, and Weston juniors have hung up their skates and sticks for the season. The intermediate A series saw both Markham and Stouffville ousted by the O.H.A. while Newmarket Spitfires fell before Parry Sound. The Sounders, despite crack netminding by Ran Forder, who 16 years ago was the "phainting phenom" of Newmarket Redmen, have in turn been eliminated by Midland. Sutton Greenshirts of the B series fell in straight games before Georgetown. It was 5-2 on the round with Ellis Pringle getting both goals for Sutton. Georgetown was too speedy for Sutton and Del Beaumont and Ken Nash, who both played with Aurora juniors in 1943, were members of the Georgetown club. Georgetown are now meeting Grimsby. The winner will probably meet Walkerton who features in goal Davie Silk, the sensational netminder of the old Orangville junior club which defeated Aurora in the junior C finals of 1948.

Weston juniors, who took three games to put Enlionielle Mutals into the discard, have eliminated Preston Riversides and there's still Lindsay midgets, Midland Huskies, Thorold, Crowland Bisons in the hunt for the C crown. No club has yet been able to stop Ted Downer, the big Weston winger who so far has been averaging three goals a game. The scores in the Unionville series were 5-2, 1-2 and 3-1, the final game being played on slushy ice at Markham. The performance of Ab Crocker's Weston club again emphasizes the fact that Aurora Meteors were a great little club who ran in hard luck. Oro juniors, who rated as D in the local O.H.A. group, are among the last four teams left in that series and may well go on to win a title for coach Dane Found. Here's hoping the best for both clubs and a nice boost for district hockey.

In the minor hockey series, Newmarket juveniles were beaten by Collingwood who have the Ontario title in their hip pocket. Bradford juveniles in the B series lost out to Powassan, who in turn were eliminated. Beeton were put out by Hastings 11-5 on the round and the eastern kids are in the series finals in juvenile D. Bradford midgets under Glen Boyd made a great showing defeating Orangeville, Ajax, Elmville and Newcastle before losing to Marmora who are in the finals against Fergus. Illness, which saw the Bradford team play under wraps and minus key players, spelled defeat for them. Sutton bantams were, of course, put out by Westport some weeks ago. It's been a great year all told for district hockey even though the titles garnered may be few and far between. Given artificial ice for steady practice there's no telling just how far some of the district teams might have gone. Most of those interested already have their eyes trained on 1950. More about Woodbridge and Thornhill later.

On The Alleys

It was the big week in the town men's league. The championship was on the line, and the champs are the Office Specialty bowlers. They racked up a 3-515 count for top honors, almost 300 pins in front of the runners-up, the Clover Kickers, with 3,275. Third fell to Bender's 3,201, fourth, Combines, 3,125, and making a terrific finish with a 280. Other performers climbing on the lead wagon were Myrt. Dunn 585, Betty VanZant 559, Hazel Bennett 535, Fran. Bennett 513 and Helen Tomlinson 504.

her first game, then 150 and 232. Nearest rival was Mary Kelly with 573, then Eva Whitfield 524 and Barbara Wilson 513. Edna McGrath held the spotlight in the scoring parade of the Thursday Night ladies' league with a healthy 681 triple, breaking in with 234 then 187 and making a terrific finish with a 280. Other performers climbing on the lead wagon were Myrt. Dunn 585, Betty VanZant 559, Hazel Bennett 535, Fran. Bennett 513 and Helen Tomlinson 504.

Tommy Scott's maple spillers hold a ten-point margin in the Office Specialty Officers' league and are in with but one week to go. Next it's Burch's with 47. Per's 43 and last Phumister's with 35. Scott's men tacked on three points Tuesday, while Burch's had four. Don. Burch was the sharp-shooter deluxe with a 713 triple, including a 335 high single mark. Herb. Hugs, 21, most 100 back, ran second on 881.

Owls were four-point winners in the Ladies' Monday Night league. Dads added three. Nitwits and Humbugs two each. Shmoos 1 and Blanks didn't land a mark. Duds are leading with 55 points, while Owls vaulted into second with 49. Shmoos 47, Nitwits 45, Humbugs 44 and Blanks 38. Edna McGrath rolled up a nice 718 triple including a 310 single to top the individual scores. Claire Pollock checked in second with 662, helped along greatly with a 312 effort. Other good scores were recorded by Rene Abbott 651, Audrey Benton 587, Alice Gibson 586, Phil. McInnis 585, Lena Crawford 578, Vi. Gilkes 554.

Larsen Sweeps Ski Meet

The four-way Newmarket Ski Club meet got off right on the dot as scheduled at 1 o'clock Sunday. Robert Elphinstone was first in the slalom race at 1:30 min. Orla Larsen was second with 1:35 and Ian Brown third with 1:35. The latter duo ran the course a second time to break the deadlock with Larsen winning by a second.

Sharp at 1:30 p.m. the downhill event was underway, a straight line course through deep snow that was fast and tricky. Orla Larsen skied off with first prize, completing the course in 9 seconds. Ian Brown was second with 15 seconds. Reid Bell tied Brown's mark but both figured a repeat performance was too much so flipped a coin and it was Brown's lucky day.

The jumping started at three chimes. Orla Larsen was number one man, soaring for the largest stunting jump of the afternoon. Ian Brown was second and Richard Edwards third. At 3:30 p.m. the cross-country racers had their innings. Only two tried the gruelling run.

Orla Larsen and Richard Edwards. Right here might be the spot to ditch our hats to these two hard-working lads, for every Saturday and Sunday found them spending two-thirds of the time on trail work, selling day passes, at the gate and patrolling the trails. A mighty fine effort, lads. Richard Edwards finished the course in first place in 17 min. Orla Larsen followed 1 min. behind.

Grand champion was Orla Larsen with two firsts and two seconds for a 16-point total; Ian Brown 7 points; Richard Edwards 6; Robert Elphinstone 5; Reid Bell 1. All and all a last Thursday with a splendid fine meet and better things in store for next year.

Lions, Press-Police Play Repeat Broomball Tilt

By GEORGE HASKETT

They've done it again. Those swishing, swiping broomaloos players, Walker's Lions and Haskett's Press-Police Combines, brought down the house in a repeat engagement as part of the Monday night fun at the arena. The Lions right off protested that Long John Hisey and Eddie Gibson were ringers. This statement was quickly refuted when both veteran broom ball players whipped out press cards of the Gum Swamp "Bugle". Kes Hugo, Del "Farmer" Gibeay and Battling Billiam Ingram completed the Press roster.

Mrs. Peaches Walker set up light housekeeping in the Lions twine bungalow and kept the wolves and magazine salesmen away from her door with her trusty 44-40 and it was loaded too by gar! Aub "Just call me dearie" Marshall displayed a well turned ankle and had "it" with a capital "T". Mrs. Grant "Luscious" Dillane looked chic in her 1914 get up and it played hob with the Combines' shooting. John "Cuddles" Hines was the Miss America of the show pulling up short on several of her goalyard journeys to date up some over enthusiastic males who offered to see her home. "Bertha" Budd looked ravishing in a Hollywood creation and as one fan remarked, "I ain't seen such legs since going to Atlantic City last summer". A late arrival in a hula hula skirt—he gave the excuse "the police picked me up for being under dressed", was Ken Johns. Seneca Cook completed the Lions roster. And the score? Oh, it was another smashing 2-2 win for the Press.
